

DNR Program

Indiana Department of Natural Resources
Falls of the Ohio State Park
201 West Riverside Drive
Clarksville, IN 47129
812-280-9970

Naturalist at Heart* Programs at the Falls of the Ohio

The following Naturalist at Heart volunteer classes are open to public. Programs are free with regular Interpretive Center admission. Classes last two to three hours and are offered on Wednesdays at 1:00 p.m. and Saturdays at 9:30 a.m. Speakers are park staff or invited experts.

Level I (Introductory)

Geology of the Falls, Alan Goldstein: February 4 & 7
Fossils at the Falls, Alan Goldstein: Feb. 25 & Mar. 14
Life in the Ohio River, Jeremy Beavin: Mar. 4 & 7
Birds at the Falls, Kathy Dennis: Mar. 25
Spring Wildflowers, Bill Adams: Apr. 8
Spring Wildflowers, Connie Farmer: April 18
History of the Falls, Jeannie Burke: May 6 & 9
Tree Identification, Connie Farmer: May 27 & 30

Level 2 (More in-depth)

History of Clarksville, Jane Sarles: Jan. 28
River Mussels, Brant Fisher: Feb. 11
Ohio Valley Archaeology, Anne Bader: Feb. 14
Paleo-ecology of the Fossil Beds, Alan Goldstein: Feb. 18, Feb. 21
Insects – Eric Bitner: April 1
Reptiles and Amphibians: Sara Beth Klueh: Mar. 11

Do you think of yourself as a naturalist at heart? If so, consider joining the Naturalist at Heart program at the Falls of the Ohio State Park. This exciting program combines learning with volunteering. Volunteer interests are matched with the needs of the park and its visitors. Certification as a Naturalist at Heart is reached after 40 hours of classes and 50 hours of volunteer time at the park. If you would like to participate, call 812-280-9970.

Alan Goldstein, Interpretive Naturalist, Certified Interpretive Planner
Falls of the Ohio State Park, 201 West Riverside Dr., Clarksville, IN 47129-3148
(812) 280-9970 ext. 403 www.fallsoftheohio.org